Shall We Have a Fair?

The Question Thoroughly Discussed in Congress.

A VOTE TO BE TAKEN MONDAY.

A Number of Congressmen Express Their Preference in Flowery Language—The Debate Ended—The Senate Disposes of a Large Amount of Calendar Business.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—There was so much confusion in the house yesterday, when Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, began his address in favor of Washington as the site for the world's fair, that for a while his words could not be distinguished twenty feet away. The galleries were quite as generously filled as they were the previous day, and a large proportion of the members were in their seats chatting and laughing together. The hum of voices rose above the voice of Mr. Hooker, and Mr. Hitt, of Illinois, was finally compelled to ask the speaker to declare order.

Mr. Hooker referred to former celebrations and stated that he was heartily in favor of them because they did more to establish the prominence of a government than any other event. The city of Washington, he said, presented a capital of $50,000,000 in its public buildings, beautiful in their architecture. Space there was plenty. The heights of Georgetown and the great stretches of available land all tended to prove that Washington was a fit place for the fair.

He did not favor Washington simply for these reasons. He did not favor it because it was Washington City, but because it was the capital of the nation, a non-partisan city, where the great men and women of the country could be drawn together. As an American citizen he had felt that the place for extending the hand of America to the people of the world was Washington.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hooker's remarks, Mr. Mills, of Texas, rose in opposition to the proposition of holding a world's fair. Mr. Mills began by speaking in complimentary terms of the accomplishments of the American people. Mr. Mills said that the members of congress were so overwhelmed with business that they had become little more than mailing clerks. An immense amount of business that did not belong to congress had been forced on the representatives of the people. The government had nothing to do with a world's fair; it was a state proposition.

Referring to Christopher Columbus, Mr. Mills said that Columbus had never seen North America. He had left Spain to hunt Indians; had landed at San Salvador and gone back home again. He had come a second, a third and a fourth time and gone back home without ever knowing of the existence of the country that wanted to honor him. This proposition, he held, was a business proposition. Since 1876 these fairs had been increasing and if they kept on increasing, helped by government appropriations, the people would finally break down under the burden of taxation.

These fairs could be held without any help from the government. If the city of Chicago, or the city of New York, or Washington or St. Louis wanted a fair, its business men could raise the necessary money. He thought the bill would pass, and it would be charged up to patriotism and to Columbus. He supposed that he would have to cast his vote for some particular site, and that vote would be cast for St. Louis. When the question of passing the bill came up, he would cast his vote against the proposition like a little man.

Mr. Morse, of Massachusetts, also opposed the bill. He thought that if the fair should be held anywhere, it should be held in Washington. But he had some doubts as to the advisability of holding a fair. He thought that the fair, wherever held, would result in a loss of several millions to the government. There were other measures that demanded more immediate attention. He was against the proposition until other matters of more importance, that affected the treasury, could be disposed of.

Mr. Peters, of Kansas, opposed the bill, because in an estimate of the expenditures of the government prepared by him they exceeded the receipts. He asked the people to pause before it was too late.

Mr. O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, said he had not at this late day definitely made up his mind on a site. He opposed the proposition principally because there was too little time to prepare for a fair in 1893. It was not a business proposition, but arose from patriotic sentiment.

Mr. Blanchard, of Louisiana, favored Washington. He believed, however, that wherever the fair would be held, it would result in the greatest benefit to the south.

Mr. Gibson, of Maryland, thought Washington the place where the National congress in wealth and grandeur could be seen best. If there was not a suitable harbor here, he said, near at hand, at Baltimore, the navies of the world might ride.

Mr. Milliken, of Maine, said that no class of people would more gladly participate in the fair than the men who carried the flag. The soldiers would not thank the man who pleaded the poverty act here. He had never known of a man who wanted to do anything or prevent anything being done, who could not quote Jefferson on either side.

Mr. Houk, of Tennessee, said that in Washington only would the fair have National importance and significance. The nation should inherit the buildings which must be constructed for the fair.

Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, said that fairs allayed the sectional feelings engendered by the war. They chastened the spirit of one and aroused National pride in the other. If the exposition was to be a great historic event it must be carried on by the National government, and the seat of the National government was the place where it should be held. Under the financial scheme the fair would cost the government no more if held in Washington than it would anywhere else.

Mr. Vandever, of California, advocated St. Louis' claim. If it was to be a financial transaction purely, he said, they should advertise for bids. In the Mississippi valley the foreign visitor would see the real source of the prosperity of New York and Chicago, and would find St. Louis the center of it all. The commerce of this great valley exceeded tenfold the foreign commerce of New York, and St. Louis was at the confluence of the great streams of that commerce. He believed the next exposition would be held in California, and he favored the claim of St. Louis as a recognition of the west.

Mr. Carlisle said that the fair should be held near the center of the country. St. Louis was nearest that center and Chicago was next. Mr. Carlisle said that he must disapprove the bills presented by the committee. Congress had no right to hold a fair anywhere but at the National capital. If a state wanted the fair, its citizens had only to incorporate themselves and hold it. He thought the bills should be amended. When they were changed to suit his ideas, he would vote for St. Louis first, and then for Chicago.

Mr. Kinsey, of Missouri, said that the greatest thing the country had to exhibit was the country itself, and the fair should be held at a place where most of it could be seen. St. Louis embraced something of all that was good, and all that was representative of the genius of the people of this country. The convenience of the people of South and Central America should be consulted, too.

Mr. O'Neill, of Indiana, said that the interests of the whole country would be best subserved by holding the fair at St. Louis, which was near the heart of population. He believed in putting the fair where it would do the most good to the greatest number of our own people, not merely where it would benefit a particular city.

Mr. Wilson, of Missouri, said that it would be subversive of the objects in view to locate the fair upon the narrow strip of country where Columbus landed. The country was the greatest exhibit after all, and therefore the fair should be held in St. Louis.

Mr. Jones, of Illinois, favored St. Louis. He thought the fair should be an educational aid to the people of the country. St. Louis was the only city in the west that had succeeded in holding exhibitions and had never failed in an undertaking.

Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, said that it was providential that DeSoto had been fifty years behind Columbus. If he had discovered the Mississippi valley fifty years sooner, New England and Manhattan Island would now be Indian reservations for sale at $1.25 per acre. Mr. Hatch spoke of the hospitality of St. Louis. He spoke at some length of the advantages of Forest park as a site. Mr. Outhwaite said that obeying the resolutions passed by his state legislature he favored Chicago. New York could have the naval parade he said, even if the fair was held in the west.

Mr. Mason, of Illinois, said that when he thought of the many things he had to say about Chicago, and the few minutes he had to say it in, he felt like the boy who sat in the middle of a sugar barrel and exclaimed: "Oh, for a thousand tongues to do this thing justice." He would like the New York people to come to Chicago and see the great shipping of the lakes—greater than the foreign commerce of New York and a peaceful navy—not war vessels.

Mr. Gear, of Iowa, favored Chicago. Its people had pluck and push and energy, and would make the fair a success. Messrs. Kerr, of Iowa, and Owen, of Indiana, spoke briefly in favor of Chicago.

Mr. Fitch, of New York, in advocating the claims of New York city, said in its harbor were the navies of the world, all tongues were spoken there and it was the proper place for a great world's fair.

Mr. Dunphy, of New York, said that across the Brooklyn bridge, across the Hudson and on Manhattan Island, in each of these three places was a population larger than that of Chicago, and population was one of the considerations to be taken into account, if the fair was to be a financial success.

Messrs. Laming, Raines, Wallace, McCarthy, Farquhar, each pleaded eloquently in behalf of New York city as the proper place for the fair.

Mr. Candler, of Massachusetts, closed the debate in a few words, saying the country could safely trust the house to discharge its full duty, and hoped for a favorable conclusion upon the question next Monday.

At 6 o'clock a recess was taken until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The senate disposed of a large amount of calendar business and discussed (but without result) the Oklahoma town site bill.

The conference reported the bill to increase the pensions of totally disabled pensioners, presented by Mr. Davis, and was agreed to after an explanation to the effect that under the act of 1880 it had been provided that totally disabled pensioners then drawing $5 a month should receive $7; that the increase did not apply to those who were pensioned thereafter; that the bill as passed the senate was intended to correct that omission; that the house had amended so as to allow arrears of pension in such cases; that the conference was on that point, and that the result was practically the adoption of the senate bill as originally passed—no arrears being allowed.

The senate then, on motion of Mr. Plumb, proceeded to the consideration of the house bill to provide for town site entries of lands in Oklahoma.

Mr. Plumb moved to substitute the senate bill on the same subject for the house bill.

Mr. Berry opposed the substitution, and argued against it.

At the end of a long discussion the bill went over till Monday—Mr. Vest giving notice of an amendment which he would then offer to the senate bill, providing that all claims for town sites, if made by a United States officer or agent of the United States who was in the territory prior to the time fixed for entering it, shall be deemed and held invalid.

The senate then passed the following bills:

Increasing limits of cost for public buildings as follows: San Francisco (site), to $800,000; Sacramento, Cal., to $300,000; El Paso, Tex., to $200,000; Omaha, Neb., to $2,000,000. Making appropriations for public buildings as follows: Annapolis, Md., $75,000; Kansas City, Mo., $2,500,000; Los Angeles, Cal., (additional), $350,000; Allegheny, Pa., $250,000; Beaver Falls, Pa., $50,000; Atchison, Kan., $100,000; Martinsburg, W. Va., $125,000; Selma, Kan., $150,000; Zanesville, O., Emporia, Kan., Danbury, Conn., and Waterbury, Conn., $100,000 each; New London, Conn., $100,000; Youngstown, O., $100,000.

The bill to amend the copyright law went over at the suggestion of Mr. Harris. The bill increasing the pension of the widow of Maj. Gen. Judson Kilpatrick, to $2,000 a year, was taken up but the committee on pensions reported an amendment making the pension $100 a month. Mr. McPherson moved to amend the amendment by making the pension $166 2/3 per month, but as opposition was made by Senators Berry and Harris and as there was no quorum present the bill was laid aside without action.

After a brief executive session the senate at 4:40 adjourned until Monday.

SIR JOHN WARMS UP.

Eloquent Appeal for Maintaining the French-Canadian Compact.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 22.—Sir John Macdonald, Thursday, made what is generally considered the finest speech he has ever made in the house of commons. The occasion was the debate on the dual language bill.

Sir John's closing words were particularly impassioned and forcible. Holding out both hands, as if in terribly earnest supplication, he said:

"I appeal to the members of this house. I appeal to you each and all to work hand in hand with the mover of this measure now in so disposing of this vexatious question that it may be buried forever and forever from our thoughts. Think of the awful consequences should this cry which raises race against race, creed against creed, religion against religion and language against language be continued. It will ruin the prosperity of our country. It will destroy our credit in England."

"Think what a financial calamity it would be to Canada was it to be broached upon that most fickle of all markets—the London Stock Exchange—that Canada was about to throw herself into a war on religion and race questions. Think what a disastrous consequence were it to be to Canada to be thus ruined in minds of foreigners and the proud position which we now hold among the growing nations of the world to be thus so ruthlessly cast down. And for what? Simply because a few families have chosen to declare themselves as opposed to the carrying out of our solemn covenant and promise with the French-Canadians, who are now a proud and happy portion of our Dominion."

"Mr. Speaker, I say forbid it. Forbid it in the name of Christianity, in the name of humanity, in the name of our country."

"Let us now bury this question, and having it finally disposed of we will continue to grow and increase in prosperity as we have done since 1867, when the solemn compact which these tyrants now wish us to break were entered into by means of confederation."

Long and continued applause greeted the conclusion of his speech.

RUMORED SHORTAGE.

Mississippi's Retiring State Treasurer Said to Be Short in His Accounts.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—The Picayune's Jackson, Miss., special says that a great sensation was created in that city yesterday, by the rumor that the retiring state treasurer, Col. W. S. Hemingway, was short $250,000 in his accounts. Attention was called to the matter in the senate and a committee of inquiry was appointed. Col. Hemingway has been state treasurer for four years.

The Times-Democrat special from Jackson, says that ex-treasurer Hemingway was examined yesterday by a joint investigating committee of the legislature. A member of the committee in an interview last night, said the committee could report to-day, meanwhile Hemingway will come before them again with a statement that would probably explain the deficit satisfactorily. Hemingway was seen but declined to make any statement until the committee has reported and he said he hoped a full examination would be made by experts from beginning of his term of office to the close.

Mr. J. J. Evans, the incoming treasurer, states that Mr. Hemingway has turned over to him in cash upwards of $200,000 and $100,000 in bonds, coupons, etc., and that the settlement is not yet complete. It is generally believed that Hemingway will be able to explain everything satisfactorily.

Montana Muddlers Take a Test.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 22.—The present session of the legislature closed Friday. Owing to the absence of the Democratic senators, nothing has been accomplished. Financial matters are in bad shape, no appropriation bills having been passed. The governor may be compelled to call a special session of the legislature at an early date.

A King Hanged.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 22.—At a few minutes past 11 o'clock yesterday, in the jail inclosure at Osceola, Ark., John King was hung for the murder of Mrs. Warren and child. The murder was committed a year ago, and King was convicted on the evidence of a 9-year-old child.

Drowned by Thousands

Another Great Calamity Has Occurred in Japan.

A VERY DISASTROUS STORM.

Thirteen Hundred Fishing Boats Driven Out to Sea and All on Board Perished, Three Europeans Assassinated in China—Other Information by the Last Pacific Mail Steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—The Pacific mail steamer China has arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama, Japan. The people state that the storm which swept along the Bosu coast on Jan. 24 was very disastrous.

About 1,000 fishing boats, with between 2,500 and 3,000 fishermen, drifted out to sea. Nine hundred of these boats, with all the men aboard, were lost. Most of the bodies drifted upon the beach, and were taken care of by relatives.

The scenes among the families and friends were heart-rendering. The same day eleven boats were wrecked in the sea off Tobishima, during a storm, and fifty fishermen were drowned. Jan. 25 twenty-three fishermen were drowned on the coast of Maschawa.

News has also been received of the disastrous storm which swept the Isle of Tokuo and Chusie Kadusa district the night of Jan. 26. Over 300 fishing boats that were out, never returned. Funeral ceremonies for about 600 fishermen supposed to have been drowned have been observed. Whole villages are in mourning.

China advises state that The Courier d'Haiphong chronicles the assassination of three Europeans—M. D'Argence, wife and son. Their bodies were found in a house that they had been occupying. The same paper states that Messrs. Rogue and Costa, whose abduction was previously announced, are still detained by bandits in the mountain fastnesses. The bandits demand heavy ransom, and negotiations are in progress to that end.

WAITING FOR THE VERDICT.

The Fate of the Alleged Cronin Jury Bribers With the Jury.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The trial of O'Donnell, the alleged Cronin jury briber, was resumed in Judge Waterman's court yesterday morning. The defense wanted to introduce witnesses to a conversation between Hoagland and O'Donnell last Saturday, but the court would not allow it, and the defense announced their case closed.

The state in rebuttal called a dozen witnesses who testified to Hoagland's good character and reputation. Arguments by the council for the state and defense were then made, and at 6 p. m. the jury were instructed by the court and retired to consider their verdict.

At 9:30 p. m. Judge Waterman adjourned the court until morning, the jury at that hour showing no signs of coming to an agreement. O'Donnell spent the night in jail, the court refusing to allow him out on bail.

A Bishop's Crime.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 22.—In the church trial of Bishop Randolph Dubs, of the Evangelical church, for conduct unbecoming a Christian, the two heinous offenses are proven against him that he once put his hand on the shoulder of Mrs. Lena Schneider when she sat at the table eating, and remarked: "Well, Lena, how does it taste?" and in addition to this dizzy and sinful offense he, years ago, when traveling in Switzerland, hugged a chambermaid. The first crime was bad enough, but any jury of ordinary men would vote the latter a capital offense.

More Arrests in the Randall Tragedy.

LEBANON, Ind., Feb. 22.—Samuel Bell, the alleged assassin of Mrs. Randall, was rearrested and placed in jail here late last night. Oliver Lee was also arrested in connection with the crime. The two were together the night of the tragedy and claim they were coon hunting. It is rumored that Lee shot Randall's dog and Mrs. Randall received the shot from Bell intended for her daughter, Bell's divorced wife.

A Dwarf Dead.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Feb. 22.—Miss Rosanna McIntire, a dwarf, residing in Jackson township, Wells county, has died after an illness of only a few days' duration. She was aged 44 years, and was only three feet, three inches in height. She has another dwarf sister three years younger, yet living, but it is feared that the shock of losing her constant companion will be too much for her.

Dry Goods House Closed.

LEETONIA, O., Feb. 22.—Forney's dry goods and general store, one of the largest in eastern Ohio, has been closed on account of the financial embarrassment of Mr. Forney. The amount of his indebtedness is believed to be large. Capitalists and the banks of New Lisbon, Columbia and Salem are said to be affected to the extent of $25,000. This amount is exclusive of bills payable for merchandise.

Did Not Forget His Girl.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 22.—Quite a sensation has been created at Mt. Eaton, in this Wayne county by the contents of the will of the late Dr. William Wood, a wealthy old bachelor who recently died, aged 60 years. He bequeathed one half of his fortune to Miss Mary Mowry, whom he had courted for twenty years but did not marry because of physical defects.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—A deputation of citizens Thursday presented to the Ontario government a petition asking that, with a view toward building up National sentiment, the flag be caused to be displayed on certain anniversaries by every school in the province.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1890.

SENATOR BLAIR has been speaking about two weeks on his pet educational bill, and he is actually mad at the newspapers because they haven't published what he has said.

THE New York Tribune charges that David B. Hill sold a Presidency for a Governorship in 1888. This from the leading Republican paper in the country tells how Cleveland was betrayed in "the house of his friends." It will be a cold day when the Democrats nominate Mr. Hill for President.

REED still rules in the House of Representatives at Washington, but the Democratic leaders will test his despotic decisions in a higher tribunal as soon as opportunity offers. If the Democrats of the land will just get together they can knock Reed and his autocratic rules out at one blow next fall.

A REGISTRATION LAW.

The Bill Introduced by Senator C. B. Poyntz—Other Legislative Doings.

Senator Poyntz obtained leave yesterday to introduce a bill to provide for a registration of voters in the city of Maysville.

Senator Anderson's resolution to appoint a committee of sixteen to re-arrange the Congressional districts of the State was adopted.

A bill is pending to authorize the sale by the Sinking Fund Commissioners of the State's stock in turnpikes. The sale is to be duly advertised to be sold in blocks of ten shares each, and the right is reserved by the Commissioner to reject bids.

Mr. Smith introduced a bill to stop the transfer annually of five cents out of the amount levied for State purposes to the Sinking Fund. The bill alleges in a preamble that such transfer is unnecessary and creates a fund largely in excess of all demands. The bill also directs the transfer from the Sinking Fund to the General Fund of all sums in excess of $200,000 now to the credit of the Sinking Fund.

One of the most important of the general bills introduced yesterday was by W. B. Smith to prohibit the issuance of any more patents for a period of five years for vacant land in the State by the Register of the Land office, the act to take effect at once. It does not apply to persons now holding a certificate for the entry of land. Mr. Smith says there are no more vacant lands in Kentucky, that the Land Office is continuing to issue patents at the rate of sixty or seventy a month, without knowledge whether the lands patented are vacant, and he wants it stopped to prevent further confusion.

The resolution to investigate the Louisville Gas Company came up Thursday and the question was on concurring in two slight amendments made by the House. Senator Poyntz, who offered the resolution, made a personal statement, in which he said the seeming discourtesy to the Speaker implied by his resolution was entirely foreign to his intention. The omission of the name "speaker" in connection with the appointment of the committee was an oversight. With this statement made, he didn't see why there should be objection to concurring in the amendments and permitting the investigation to proceed. It has, he said, been stated that it is of no use to investigate the gas company. The representatives of this concern have been here hobnobbing with the members, and claiming they are pure and undefiled. If this is so he doesn't understand why they should object to an investigation.

Mr. Smith urged that the resolution as amended should be rejected, and another one should be originated as a matter of courtesy to the Speaker, who was ignored in the other, while the House Speaker was recognized.

Mr. Poyntz said he understood if the resolution got back into the House there was serious doubt of its being readopted as there was a movement on foot to defeat it.

The Senate finally concurred in the House amendments.

Horse Sense.

Horses are just like men—some have sense and some have none. "There is one hill horse on our line," remarked a St. Louis street car driver, "that knows as well as I do when his work is done, and with what car he is to go to the stable. The car leaves the terminus at midnight and passes the corner where he is hitched ten minutes later. I don't know whether he knows the number of the car, or the team, or the driver, but he knows the time, and one night when they tried to keep him to help another car a few minutes later, he kicked, and squealed, and squealed, and bit, and refused to pull, so they had to let him go. The other hill horse that works with him doesn't know a thing, and will pull cars all night without having sense enough to object."

Why Not Have Standard Time at Once?

Mr. Editor: A correspondent of the BULLETIN, J. B., a few days since, called attention to the fact that Cincinnati, Covington and Newport had adopted standard time. How can any one of our City Fathers give any good and sufficient reason why our city time should not also be made to conform to railroad time without farther delay? The only conceivable reason that we can think of is, that standard, or railroad, time, is not true time; but neither are clocks or mean time true time. The fact is there are but four days in the entire year when clock time coincides with true time; indeed there are times when standard time is nearer true time than clock time. On the first of February standard time varies from true time only ten minutes, while there was fifteen minutes between true time and clock time. The truth is, the only man in the entire country who has true time is the countryman who regulates his clock by a sun-dial or noon mark on his door sill, and in order to keep his clock exactly right, he must reset it every day in the entire year. If then, true time is an impossibility as it certainly is; if in order to have uniform time at all we must adopt a purely conventional one, what reason or sense is there in keeping up two such times, to the perpetual annoyance and confusion of our citizens? Twelve times every day a train is now reaching or leaving our city, twelve times every day our citizens have to first look at the railroad time-table, then at the clock and then go through a process of addition or subtraction in order to tell when to reach a train, or look for a friend. It is time this nuisance was abated unless a far better reason can be assigned for its continuance, than that standard or railroad time is not true time.

"Heroes of a Dark Continent."

Mr. J. B. Hughey is soliciting orders in Maysville for this interesting book. The book is the work of J. W. Buel, the famous historian, and is a thrilling narrative of Stanley's last expedition into Central Africa for the relief of Emin Pasha. It details his adventures, exciting incidents and wonderful discoveries, describes the wild tribes and gives the fullest information respecting Africa, its resources, people, &c. There is given, also, a history of Bornu, Sofala and the rich regions of Ophi, concluding with the adventures of Mungo Park, Marco Polo, Livingstone, Peters, Chinese Gordon and other African explorers and hunters. It is an interesting work.

The Miamisburg Bulletin says: "A boy seventeen years old has recently been tried, found guilty, and sentenced to ten days in the Medina County Jail, with $25 fine, for giving tobacco to a minor. The law passed in Ohio, April 10, 1889, reads as follows:
§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That whoever sells, gives or furnishes to any minor under fifteen years of age, any cigarette or tobacco shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both.

That is right. Give her helen blazes. That is the way to make a town prosper. Croak, always. Talk everything and everybody down who tries to do any business in your place. It is big encouragement to a stranger to enter a town and have every body tell him the town is played out. He will feel disposed to invest—just money enough to get out of town as quick as possible. Why should we not feel proud of our town, and use every opportunity to talk up any work for the good of the town? We have got a flour mill, saw mill, tannery, all in full operation, several warehouses, a booming building association, stock sales, good business houses, &c. Let us put on city airs and boom the old town.

The Pope's Tomb.

[New York Sun.]
Leo XIII has directed that his monumental tomb shall only consist of his figure recumbent in white marble upon a sepulchral urn of porphyry, on the sides of which are to be the statues of religion and justice; many of the Popes prescribed their monuments, though Pius IX did not leave any directions in regard to his.

PROF. LOISETTE'S Memory System is creating greater interest than ever in all parts of the country, and persons wishing to improve their memory should send for his prospectus free as advertised in another column.

PRICES CURRENT.

Review of the Stock, Money and Cattle Markets for Feb. 21.

Money loaned at 3/4 per cent. throughout the morning. Currency notes 116 bid; four coupon 122 1/2 bid; four-and-a-half do 104 1/2 bid.
The stock market this morning was moderately active and some of the list recorded wide fluctuations. Tennessee Coal was the feature of the first hour. After opening 1/2 per cent. higher at 73, it rapidly dropped to 65. It afterwards rallied to 67. Sugar Trust and Cotton Oil were both weak and declined 1 per cent. each. The rest of the list was down 1/4 to 1/2 per cent. by 11 o'clock. After 11 o'clock the bears began sounding the market for weak spots, and raised successively St. Paul, Rock Island, Louisville and Nashville, Union Pacific, and Burlington and Quincy. The latter yielded the most readily, declining 1 1/2 to 102. The others gave way only fractionally. Tennessee Coal preferred took a tumble of 8 per cent. to 100, but the common was steadily held. Colorado Coal fell 1 1/2 per cent. Tomorrow being a legal holiday the bank statement was issued about 11:30 showing a decrease in the reserves of $3,796,300. This added to the weak feeling, and at this writing values are the lowest of the day.

"Little Nugget" is the apt term applied to a wild but pretty and true hearted orphan girl, who had found a guardian in one "Old Grinder, a deep-dyed villain, who is the cause of heaps of trouble, besides creating lots of innocent amusement.
The play is of the farce comedy style, with plenty of opportunities for a hearty laugh. There is something of a plot in it, founded on the old story of the adopted and misused daughter, who proves to be an heiress. The villain makes all the trouble he can, but in the last act he is caught cracking a safe, and all ends in peace and happiness. The company is one of more than ordinary merit.

A SOCIETY of disappointed lovers has been formed at Lexington. A dozen well-known young men, including a lawyer, several politicians and a merchant met in a hotel, where the nature of the organization was explained. It is designed as a mutual consolation society, and any man to be eligible to membership must have been engaged, and the engagement must have been broken off by the fair one.
The constitution requires every man to shun female society at all times, and a violation of the rules is punished by expulsion. The men appended their names to the constitution and related their experiences in the courting line.—Bourbon

Dick Tate in Japan.
"How rapidly the memory of 'Dick'
Tate is fading out of the minds of people," says the Louisville Sunday Critic.
"While in Frankfort, last week, the writer made special inquiry of his old friends, and very few of them expressed any interest in the matter. His family have not heard from him for over a year.
The last letter received was from Japan, and he stated in it that he 'was without money and without friends.' He may be without friends, but I doubt the former assertion. One of the experts who went over his books told me that, in his judgment, Tate took not less than $75,- 000 away with him. It is not possible that he has already squandered that amount of money.
"There is great sympathy in Frankfort for Mrs. Tate. She is a heart-broken woman, and the kindness of friends can not lighten her sorrow. When her father died he left her a small sum of money, with which she purchased a cottage. It was decided to her, and she is now occupying a few rooms in it, renting the remainder of the house for enough to exist on. She is doing sewing and embroidering for some of her old friends, and I have heard it said that bouquets plucked from her little garden were readily bought by those who wanted to assist her."

SOCIALIST VOTE INCREASING.

In Baden Alone It Has Increased Thirty-Three Thousand—Rebelling Necessary in Many of the Districts—Rioting Reported at Several Places—Other Cable News.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—The result of Thursday's elections, as far as known, are as follows:

Elected—Conservatives, 22; Imperials, 10; National Liberals, 9; Centrists, 12; Freissings, 11; Socialists, 20; Poles, 3; Alsations, 10; Democrats, 3; Danes, 1; Independent Liberal, 1.

Rebalds will be necessary in the contests for ninety-two seats, which will be contested by eleven Conservatives, thirteen Imperials, fifty-three National Liberals, fourteen Centrists, thirty-six Freissings, forty Socialists, two Guelphs and nine Democrats.

Herr Sieffman, a protester, at Molsheimstein, has been defeated by the National Liberal candidate, Baron Bulach.

At Mulhausen the Socialist candidate, Herr Hinkel, was successful. The Socialist candidate at Essen was defeated by Herr Stoltzel, Ultramontane. At Colmar Herr Grad was elected. Other successful candidates are Herr Guerber at Gebweiler, Herr Lang at Schlestadt, Dr. Hoefel at Zabern, and Herr Dells, an Alsatian, at Metz.

The Socialist vote in Berlin alone since the last general elections has increased 33,000 and that of the Deutsche Freisinnige party 6,000, while the vote cast by the Conservatives shows a decrease of 35,000. Two Socialist candidates have been returned from Berlin while in three of the districts rebalding will be necessary to determine the result.

The Socialists have carried Magdeburg, Altona, Hamburg, the Dresden district, the Leipzig district, Chemnitz and Zwickau.

Riots growing out of the elections have occurred in Bernburg, Koenigsburg and Frankfurt. In Berlin thirty-six arrests have been made for rioting.

A collision occurred yesterday on the Hamburg frontier between the military and some Socialists who attempted to hold a meeting. Eight civilians were severely wounded. Another affray occurred at Cattbus and resulted in bloodshed.

A Sovereign Lost.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The arrival at Port Talbot, Wales, of the steamer Bayfisher is announced. The Bayfisher landed Capt. Putnam and eight of the rescued crew of the British ship Sovereign, from Cardiff for Montevideo. The Sovereign had been run into by the steamer High Gate on Tuesday, while off Lundy island. When picked up by the Bayfisher Capt. Putnam and his companions had been adrift in an open boat for thirty hours, and when rescued were very much exhausted. Altogether twelve of the Sovereign's crew have safely landed, but the fate of a number of others is in doubt.

Sensational Suicide.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 22.—A sensation has been created here by the suicide of a son of Gen. Drogomiraff, and there is a strong public demand for an inquiry into the causes and circumstances of his death. The young man was a pupil in the Corps Des Pages.

Cabinet Member Assaulted.

NO USE FOR JOINER.

A Colored Congregation Object to the Alleged British Subject.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 22.—Last Saturday the Rev. T. M. Joiner, the alleged Englishman, who was run out of Randolph county just before the holidays, made his appearance here. He had been assigned to a Methodist church at Oberlin, a settlement of intelligent, well-behaved colored people, a mile from Raleigh. He preached there last Sunday, and took up his abode in the village. He was not called to the pastorate of the church, but was sent to it, and from the very first the congregation objected to his presence.

Yesterday their objection took a very practical turn, and at a church meeting it was decided that Joiner was not wanted. The negroes said their relation with the white people had always been amicable, and that they did not propose to have such a man as Joiner fill their pulpit. Joiner accordingly left last night.

He will be remembered as the man who, claiming that he was a British subject, alleged that he and his wife had been brutally treated in Randolph county. He was run away by people there, mainly Quakers, because he preached and practiced social equality, and gave advice to negroes which was likely to lead to grave race troubles.

A Freight Wreck.

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 22.—A freight train on the Pan-handle parted three miles north of Hamilton at 3 a. m., while coming down a steep grade. The rear end ran wild and collided with the front cars, damaging and demolishing eight. The trainmen escaped without injury. Traffic was delayed three hours.

Express Robber Arrested.

IRONTON, O., Feb. 22.—John Morgan, Jr., was arrested here this morning for robbing the United States Express company of which he was agent at McAllister, I. T. Morgan claims to be a cousin of the famous rebel raider, John Morgan.

THE DOUBLE-HEADED BABY DEAD.

Death of One of Indiana's Remarkable Freaks of Nature.

BUFFALO, Feb. 22.—The wonderful two-headed Jones baby, which has been on exhibition in this city for the last two weeks, is dead. Half of the baby died an hour before the other half succumbed to the inevitable.

TWO HEADED BABY.

The double baby caught the measles while on exhibition at Wonderland and had about gotten over the disease when congestion of the lungs set in, and that finished the phenomenon. One was named Pearl and the other Ruby.

There was no deformity which conflicted with the natural growth, and, had they survived the maladies to which small children are subjected, would probably have lived to a ripe old age. There was but one body complete from the armpits of one to the armpits of the other. The union of the bodies was in the centre. The legs were located on the opposite sides of the body and opposite each other, and the legs of each child were on opposite sides. Each child had a breast and a pair of lungs. In fact the babies were perfect to where the union was made. At birth their weight was twelve and one-half pounds, and their measure twenty-two and one-half inches in length. They were unusually bright and at an early age seemed to notice objects around them. One appeared healthier than the other, though both were as lively as crickets. They had different dispositions for, while one was inclined to laugh the other would cry. They were born near Tipton, Ind., June 24, 1889.

The father, James H. Jones, is from Indiana, and both he and his wife are prostrated by the death of their little gold mine. The remains will be taken home for interment.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 22.—Fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the tin box and fruit can manufactory of E. P. Breckenridge & Company, occupying half of a large four story brick structure on Superior street, caused a loss of $150,000. The Breckenridge establishment was totally destroyed. The fire spread to the adjoining building occupied by Smith & Haldeman, elevator manufacturers, and to a small building occupied by James B. Boertz a dealer in junk and old iron. Both of these buildings were completely destroyed. The flames then attacked the People's theatre, but by active work the structure was saved from complete destruction. The Woolson Spice company's factory also caught fire, but the flames were extinguished with no material loss. The losses are well covered by insurance.

D. Grier and his brother, F. A. Grier, proprietors of a large machine shop and foundry here. McBriely has been arrested several times for being drunk and disorderly. ### The Telephone Marriage Was Real.

LAPORTE, Ind., Feb. 22.—The Middleton-Worley wedding by telephone is still the talk of the town. The joke has been decided a real marriage, and the couple have secured a license and will make the best of it and live together. The only way out of the scrape was to begin divorce proceedings. Both parties are from respectable families, and the escapade has created a great social sensation in their respective cities. It has just leaked out that Middleton was to have been married in two months to a young lady of Elkhart.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 22.—The sensational divorce suit of A. C. Blair against his wife, Mrs. Minnie Blair, is in progress here.
